Big Story: Holiday Gift Guide

For a Friend

The Alibi Network

If taking a fraudulent sick day makes your buddy ill with worry, buy him a year's subscription to this ingeniously amoral service. They'll be happy to help him out of a variety of obligations—be they professional, marital, or other—via anything from a caller pretending to be a doctor/boss/wife to a phone number that makes it look like he's in another country. Come to think of it, better sign yourself up while you're at it.

Alibi Network, from $75 per year, www.alibinetwork.com.
